Open Call for Expressions of Interest in Cultural Leadership and Media Programmes

Ref: CC4WBS001IN/2023

Extension of Deadline for submission of Applications

Guidelines for Applicants

This Open Call for Expressions of Interest provides a guidance to all individual applicants (hereinafter: applicants) from the IPA Beneficiaries in the Western Balkans interested to apply for the Cultural Leadership and Media Programmes under CC4WBs project.

This Open Call for Expressions of Interest is open for applicants to submit their applications by 15 May 2023 at 17:00 (CET)

I. Background information

The Western Balkans are home to a rich and diverse cultural heritage, reflecting significant parts of European history and identity. The region is also a vibrant hub of contemporary creativity, with lively cultural scenes, promising creative industries and abundant cultural festivals and events.

Several constraints prevent the region from fully harnessing the potential of the cultural and creative sectors. For instance, compared to the contribution of culture to economies in the WBs, public spending on culture is very low and exposed to further cuts due to the crisis generated by the COVID-19 pandemic. While the interest in regional cooperation and co-creation among cultural workers in the region is high, the lack of support mechanisms and mobility opportunities are barriers for collaboration. The low level of diffusion and advancement of inclusive, participatory and integrated management approaches to cultural heritage is accompanied by scarce training opportunities and a fragmented approach to capacity-building that often fails to include all components necessary to effectively develop sectoral capacities.

Funded by European Union

The joint project ‘Culture and Creativity for the Western Balkans’, implemented by UNESCO, the British Council, and the Italian Agency for Development Cooperation (AICS), aims at a broad participatory approach across all categories of sectoral stakeholders. This systemic and people-centred approach to development is intended to deeply embed progress across the sector, while ensuring ownership and engagement as key requirements for sustainability.

II. Who can apply?

CULTURAL AND CREATIVE INDUSTRIES’ PROFESSIONALS

- ✓ aged 18+;
 - Emerging early-career change-makers / leaders and young professionals from cultural and creative sectors in the WBs with at least 1 year of experience in a management/leadership role
 - From all cultural and creative sectors, such as architecture, archives, libraries and museums, artistic crafts, audio-visual including film, television, radio, video games and multimedia, tangible and intangible cultural heritage, design, festivals, music, literature, performing arts, publishing, photography and fairs, etc.
 - Living and working in one of the Western Balkans IPA Beneficiaries
 - Able to cascade and implement knowledge
 - Having at least an upper-intermediate level of English (speaking, listening and writing)
 - Desirable to have a specific project in development

MEDIA PROFESSIONALS AND OTHER PROFESSIONALS INTERESTED IN CREATING MEDIA CONTENT ON CULTURE AND CREATIVITY

- ✓ aged 18+;
 - Media professionals, journalists and emerging media content creators
 - Living in one of the Western Balkans IPA Beneficiaries
 - At least 1 year of relevant work experience
 - Professionals having at least an upper-intermediate level of English (speaking, listening and writing)

III. Thematic Window

This Open Call for Expressions of Interest is organized under the specific Thematic Window 2 of the Culture and Creativity for the Western Balkans Programme’s portfolio of Open Calls and is aimed at individual applicants willing to participate in the specified Programme Cycles contributing to cultural sector and cross-sectoral challenges. For an overview of the four thematic windows under the “Culture and Creativity for the Western Balkans”, consult the diagram below.

Funded by European Union

THEMATIC WINDOW 2:

ARTISTS, MEDIA PROFESSIONALS, AND CULTURAL OPERATORS MOBILISED, CONNECTED AND ENABLED TO PROMOTE THE DIVERSITY OF CULTURAL EXPRESSIONS IN AND FROM THE WESTERN BALKANS

Expected results

The following are the expected results that the CC4WBs programme aims to achieve through this Thematic Window:

- developed capacities of cultural and creative sectors (CCSs)
- strengthened cultural cooperation at regional level in and with the WBs
- increased mobility of artists and cultural operators and media content creators

Activities under this Thematic Window are envisioned to achieve regional exchange in the cultural and creative sector by enhancing skills through training, mentoring, grants; and creating a virtual portal to support regional networking and collaboration. Working with media professionals in parallel will increase the circulation of content on culture in the public sphere and empower journalists and content creators with targeted capacity building and incentive grants for content production.

For this Expression of Interest, candidates can apply for the following LOTs and Programme Cycles:

LOT 1: Cultural Leadership Programme

The Cultural Leadership Programme will be implemented through an assorted offer of skills and collaboration development strands, including training and networking, mentoring, exchange and research grants, and the creation of a digital portal. The target group are professionals working within arts, cultural and creative industries (CCIs) and cultural organisations, willing to demonstrate their vision to scale up their work in the WBs. Applications from disadvantaged groups will be encouraged by ensuring that all accessibility solutions are in place.

At this stage, candidates are invited to apply only for Programme Cycle 1: Creative Leaders Academy.

Individuals who successfully complete the Creative Leaders Academy will have the opportunity to apply for the other two Programme Cycles under LOT 1: Creative Leaders Mentorship and Creative Leaders Exchange Grant (described below).

The Cultural Leadership Programme will include the following three Programme Cycles:

Programme Cycle 1: Creative Leaders Academy will be delivered by a recognised European cultural leadership training provider. The Academy will cover the following areas: general cultural management, business and strategic planning, communication, audience development and engagement, entrepreneurial skills, and exposure to international best practices. Up to 100 participants will have the opportunity for online capacity-building activities.

Programme Cycle 2: Creative Leaders Mentorship will address individual needs for professional growth and connect leaders across the Western Balkans region. The activities will offer a tailor-made programme including mentoring and networking, skills development, peer-learning, capacity-building, while addressing individual needs for professional growth of at least 24 emerging leaders (mentees) and connecting them across the region.

An already established cohort of young leaders who have undergone the training programme within the Creative Leaders Academy will be offered the opportunity to apply for the Creative Leaders Mentorship programme.

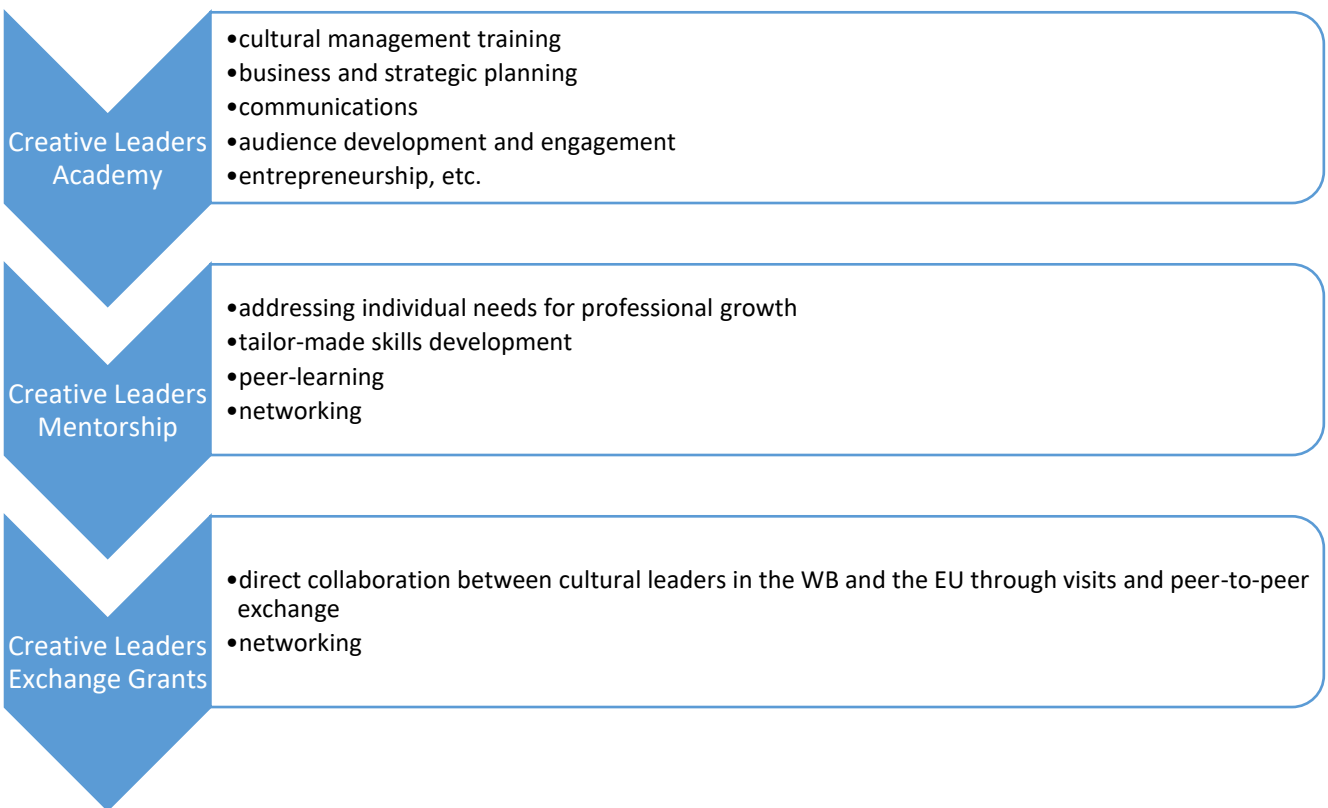

Programme Cycle 3: Creative Leaders Exchange Grants will be awarded to support networking and direct collaboration between cultural leaders in the WBs and the EU through study and research visits, and peer-to-peer exchanges. This activity will increase capacities of individuals and their organisations for international partnerships and enhance existing networks in both host and guest organisations at a broader European level.

Funded by European Union

Grants awards: Up to 6 grants through 6 exchanges will be disbursed following the completion of the Creative Leaders Academy Programme Cycle.

LOT 1 – Cultural Leadership Programme

LOT 2: Media content for cultural diversity expressions in the Western Balkans

Programme Cycle 1: Creative Spotlight

Capacity building and individual grants for creative content will be implemented through a proven model of mobilising a network of media professionals, engaging them in skills and professional development courses and peer-learning, and supporting them in the editorial process through incentivised content generation to publish quality content. Specific training topics will be developed in response to the needs of participants. Creative Spotlight will be open for applications by journalists or emerging media content creators. Selected participants will have the opportunity to apply for the Production grant for generating and sharing content on culture, matched with a writing mentor, and will go through a full editorial process with an experienced publishing supervisor.

The work in media development will gear towards a Culture journalism award to recognize outstanding achievements. Participants in Creative Spotlight will be networked with participants of other strands of the Cultural Leadership Programme to serve as amplifiers.

This Programme Cycle will be delivered by the Thomson Foundation, the leading European media development organisation dedicated to raising standards of journalism.

Programme Cycle 2: Countering disinformation and misinformation

Through this Programme Cycle, young media professionals covering arts and culture will improve their capacities to counter disinformation and misinformation, thereby strengthening freedom of expression and free, independent and pluralistic media. This activity concerns equipping media and journalists with knowledge and skills for the digital age, notably fact-checking and data journalism (including a session on debunking coronavirus misinformation).

Grants awards:

Up to 100 individual production grants will be offered for the Media content for cultural diversity expressions in the Western Balkans upon completion of capacity-building activities and subject to the outcome of the restricted call procedure.*
